"THEY CANNOT EXPEL ME" —MR. BELTON

Expelled from Clann na Talmhan, amidst brawling scenes at a party convention in Geary's Hotel, Limerick, on Saturday, Mr. P. J. Belton, T.D., states: "They cannot expel me from the party as I never belonged to it. I am a member of the National Agricultural Party, of South County Dublin."

Mr. Eamonn Rooney, past general secretary of Clann na Talmhan, told the Irish Times yesterday that the title is merely the Irish form of "National Agricultural Party," as agreed at the Longford Convention in January last.

Disorderly scenes began at the convention's opening, when Mr. Belton and the other Dublin delegates were asked to leave by Mr. M. Donnellan, chairman of the national executive. Mr. Belton refused, and the convention dissolved in yells and rushes, and many blows were exchanged during the scuffling.

"You have been thrown out of two parties already, and we don't want a political outcast," yelled some delegates. Mr Belton replied: "I always backed the farmers in any party to which I was attached." Finally the other Dublin delegates—two separate groups of which had attended to represent Dublin—withdrew, leaving Mr. Belton to sit alone through the ensuing proceedings.

A WESTERN OUTFIT

To an Irish Times reporter in Limerick yesterday, Mr. Belton said that he had never listened to such "unadulterated Communism and confiscation." Clann na Talmhan he said, had never crossed the Shannon; it was a purely Western outfit, out to seize land everywhere for its own uses. "I am going back to Dublin," he added, "to warn the farmers there to have nothing to do with it." He had gone to Limerick on a signed invitation from Mr. Rooney, and was surprised at his reception. He and the delegates who accompanied him from the National Agricultural Party had gone there to see what the policy of Clann na Talmhan might be, with a view to possibly coalescing with it. The two items insisted on by Mr. Belton and his colleagues were:—De-rating of agricultural land, and absolute security of tenure.

The position of conflict is understood to have arisen at a meeting of the National Agricultural Party on February 10 to appoint officers and prepare the election machinery. When the position of chairman was voted to Mr. L. Roe, Kilternan, Co. Dublin, dissent was voiced by Mr. J. Rooney—father of Clann na Talmhan's secretary—who later resigned from the party. The Dublin delegation to Limerick was in two sections, led by Mr. Belton and Mr. J. Rooney, respectively. Both are candidates for the general election.

Price of Butter is 2/- a lb.

Maximum prices for butter are the subject of two Emergency Powers Orders made by the Minister for Agriculture and Supplies and published in our advertising columns to-day.

One order fixes the maximum retail price for butter "sold under any set of conditions" at 2s. per lb. It is stated by the Minister for Supplies that butter is being sold at varying prices, even in the same district, and the purpose of this order is to ensure uniformity of price.

The other order concerns the maximum wholesale price of roll butter, which is fixed at 1s. 11d. per lb. This refers to creamery and non-creamery butter made up in rolls and delivered to a purchaser's premises or the nearest railway station. It operates as from to-day.

A spokesman of the Retail Family Grocers', Dairy Proprietors' and Allied Traders' Association last night stated that the Association protested in the strongest possible manner against the altogether inadequate margin of profit allowed to the retailer on the present controlled price of butter. A meeting of the trade will be called at once to consider what action is to be taken in the matter.

Germans Bomb Brighton

FOUR persons were killed and there was a number of other casualties when a raider dropped a high-explosive bomb on the residential area of an English South Coast town early yesterday. There was considerable damage to property. On the outskirts of the same town delayed action bombs fell on a Corporation housing estate, which was evacuated. Incendiaries were dropped.—(Press Association.)

High explosive and incendiary bombs were reported at two places on the north-east coast of England which were visited last night by raiders.

Four out of six German Focke-Wulf 190 fighter-bombers, which attempted to raid a British South-West coast area on Saturday, were destroyed, and a fifth was damaged, said the Press Association.

The German radio yesterday stated:—"Fast German bombers on Saturday crossed the western part of the English south coast and attacked a locality south-east of the town of Kingsbridge with bombs and gun-fire from a low level. Though a number of British fighters took off the German planes were able to drop their bombs over the selected targets. In air battles which ensued the German bombers on their homeward flight shot down one enemy plane. Towards midnight of the same day heavy German bombers dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs on the coast town of Brighton. There are extensive quarters for troops and a number of important military installations in the town."—(Reuter.)

BIG ATTACK ON ESSEN

British bombers attacked Essen, which contains the Krupp Works, Germany's greatest arms centre, on Friday night. Covering 800 acres, the Krupp Works form one of the largest industrial concentrations in the world.—Press Association.

According to a British communiqué, the defence — in which heavy and light guns, hundreds of searchlights, and many night fighters took part — had been noticeably strengthened since the last attack. Twenty-three bombers are missing. Pilots reported that there was a huge rectangular mass of fire and an enormous cloud of smoke, which ascended 15,000 feet over the target.

A German communiqué stated that British aircraft attacked Essen, Bottrop and Duisburg on Friday night, causing considerable damage, particularly in residential quarters. The population suffered casualties. The German radio claimed that the Royal Air Force lost 22 planes and 150 airmen.

The British Air Ministry News Service reported that great fires still were burning in the centre of the vast Krupp works at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. More than 1,000 tons of bombs had been dropped in Friday night's attack.

KHARKOV TAKEN GERMAN CLAIM Reds "Still Fighting"

THE Germans claim to have retaken Kharkov. A special announcement from Herr Hitler's headquarters late last night said:—

"The counter-attack, in which the Southern Army group have thrown back the enemy across the Donetz after weeks of hard fighting, was crowned to-day by an important success.

"After hard fighting, lasting many days, units of the armed S.S., well supported by the Air Force, have retaken the town of Kharkov in an encircling attack from the north and the east.

"The enemy's losses in men and material have not yet been ascertained."

The Russian midnight communiqué announced that heavy fighting continued in the Kharkov area.

ATTACKS FROM ALL SIDES

Hard pressed on all sides, Kharkov's defenders were yesterday battling against the German onslaughts, which hourly gain more force, Reuter's Special Correspondent cabled from Moscow last night. The battle has not yet reached its climax despite the ferocity of the struggle. A new threat to the city is developing to the north, where, in the past few hours, the Red Army has been forced to withdraw to new lines at several points. Similar withdrawals have taken place on the western side of the city. Large German forces have been thrust into the manœuvre to outflank Kharkov from the north.

Red Star reports that this force has been attacking for several days in a powerful bid to gain positions from which to threaten the right flank of the Soviet forces defending Kharkov proper. The Germans have occupied several villages to the north of Kharkov, but the Soviet defenders have so far held them off sufficiently to prevent the outflanking move. German pressure, however, is steadily increasing.

RAPID ADVANCE

Hundreds of miles to the north of Kharkov General Sokolovsky's troops, who stormed into Vyasma two days ago, have made a record advance of 56 miles in 48 hours. Driving down the railway to Bryansk they have reached Miliatinsky, 95 miles north of that key rail centre. Soviet forces are now rapidly approaching Kirov, less than 30 miles away. This new Red Army advance has created a pincer threat to the Bryansk-Smolensk railway, as Soviet troops in the region of Sevsk are only 60 to 70 miles south of Bryansk.

West of Vyazma the Red Army is keeping up the tempo of its offensive. Operations are developing successfully along the Moscow-Minsk autostrada, where the Soviet forces are pushing on in the direction of Smolensk.

With the ground forces in the Taman Peninsula held up by thick mud, the Soviet Black Sea air arm has kept up an offensive on the Germans during the past few days. German ships in the Kerch Straits and troop concentrations near the bridgehead have been bombed and strafed night and day. The Germans have massed powerful a.-a. defences and searchlight clusters to counter the Soviet plane attacks, but in the past few hours Stormoviks have shot down five Ju. 52 transport planes bound for the Crimea.

An urgent appeal for "more tanks, more planes and more guns" was made in the Soviet Press to-day, according to Moscow radio.

SOVIET COMMUNIQUE

Last night's Soviet communiqué says:—

"During March 14 our troops engaged the enemy in the same directions as before."

The supplement to the communiqué stated:—

"North-west of Vyazma our troops continued their successful offensive. In the Kholm-Dzherkovsky sector the Germans concentrated large forces of infantry and about twenty batteries of artillery, but the Soviet troops succeeded in forcing the Dnieper and dislodging the enemy from a number of points on the western bank. The Germans left hundreds of dead on the field of action. The River Vyazma was forced on a wide front.

"West and south-west of Vyazma our troops continued their advance and occupied several inhabited localities.

"In the area of Kharkov heavy fighting continues. Several German tanks, as well as 60 lorries carrying troops, were destroyed by the fire of our artillery. North of Kharkov our troops continued intensive action against enemy infantry and tanks. Very serious losses have been inflicted on the Germans.

"South of Byeli our troops continued their offensive, and seized thirty inhabited localities. Over 300 German dead were counted in the streets of one place alone. Our troops captured six guns, 7 anti-tank guns, ammunition dumps, and other war material.

"In the Izyum area, the "nth" formation, in two days' fighting, set fire to and disabled 16 German tanks and two armoured cars. Over one battalion of enemy infantry were wiped out."

GERMAN CLAIMS

The German Army south of Kharkov will clear the east bank of the Donetz within the next few days, according to Berlin military circles, stated Paris Radio yesterday. The German Radio also claimed that German troops in the areas of Kursk and Orel have cut two important railway lines at several points.

British Forces Attack in Northern Tunisia: Germans Claim Two Destroyers Sunk

BRITISH forces in the extreme northern sector of Tunisia launched a limited attack on Saturday in the Tamsra region and indications are, says Reuter's Special Correspondent, that it is going well.

The object was to dislodge the Axis forces from high ground from which they have an important road under fire—assumed to be the main Mateur-Tabarka road along which the Germans pressed last week as far as Sedjenane.

After a day of infiltration and cautious fighting by the British troops, a number of Axis machine-guns had been wiped out and part of Djebel Ben Marche was in Allied hands.

Meanwhile, all the evidence pointed to the fact that the Germans were still bringing in tanks, guns and troops for the all-out battle which is sure to develop in Tunisia.

ALLIED COMMUNIQUE

Yesterday's Allied communiqué stated:—

Eighth Army.—During the past 24 hours there has been a slight increase of enemy artillery activity in the northern sector. In the south normal patrol activity continued.

"Southern Algerian French forces continue to organise their recently-gained positions."

First Army.—"In the southern and central sectors normal patrol activity continued. In the north a local enemy attack was repulsed."

Air.—"Bad weather restricted air operations yesterday. Sweeps and patrols were flown by our fighters in the northern and central sectors, in the course of which enemy armoured vehicles were attacked.

"Western desert air force bombers again attacked objectives in the Mareth position. Fighters carried out patrols and sweeps, during which four enemy fighters were destroyed. From all these operations ten of our aircraft are missing."

The unsuccessful local Axis attack mentioned in the communiqué was, says Reuter, made by a small force against a British position three miles north of Bouarada on the southern edge of the northern sector.

The German communiqué stated: "The North African front was quiet.

"In Southern Tunisia German fighters dispersed an American fighter formation and, without loss to themselves, shot down 14 out of 18 attacking planes. Five more air victories were scored over other sectors of the front.

"A formation of German bombers again successfully raided the town and harbour of Bone.

"German M.T.B.'s encountered squadrons of British destroyers off the Algerian coast on Friday night. As a result of a vigorous torpedo attack two destroyers were certainly, and two more probably, destroyed. All M.T.B.'s returned to base undamaged."

Milk Price and Transport

A request to the Government to increase the price of milk has been made by a joint meeting of producers and bottlers and pasteurisers.

Reasons put forward are that the increased price would benefit the producers and give distributors a better margin to compensate for higher operating costs. The meeting also asked the Government to set aside enough petrol to maintain the Milk Collecting Road Service. Condemning the manner in which producers are being transferred from road collection to railway, they ask that the Milk Board be notified that future transfers should not take place without previous arrangements with the Milk Producers' Central Executive and the firms whose collections are involved.

It was resolved to demand the "immediate restoration of the lorries already taken off."

A DUBLIN CONCERT MYSTERY

WHAT is the mystery behind the cancellation by the Dublin Operatic Society of their undertaking to present a concert in the Gresham Hotel, Dublin, in aid of the Green Cross Fund? On Saturday appeared an announcement, supplied by the Director of the Society, that "owing to unforeseen circumstances, they will not be able to present the concert as advertised." The Dublin Operatic Society did not appear, although a substitute concert was staged, to which some of the leading principals, as well as the chorus mistress, contributed. Before the proceedings started, Mr. Sean O h-Uadhaigh, who is one of the Trustees of the Dublin Committee of the Green Cross Fund, said that the position with regard to the concert was that the Dublin Operatic Society volunteered to help the Green Cross by running a concert for it. That concert was arranged to take place last night. After the Committee had made all arrangements, including printing, advertising, getting out programmes and selling tickets, as late as Wednesday last, the 10th inst., they received a bombshell in the shape of an announcement—the first intimation they had—that the Society was not going to keep its word. No reason was given.

"INCONSIDERATE"

"We consider this action grossly unfair and inconsiderate, said Mr. O h-Uadhaigh, "and altogether unworthy of such a body as the Dublin Operatic Society. It is utterly irresponsible and calculated to be injurious to our whole week of effort on behalf of the helpless dependents of the Northern prisoners and interneres, the majority of whom are unchared and untried. No action on the part of our committee is responsible for what has happened; we cannot account for it; we are entirely blameless for the breach of faith with our patrons and advertisers.

"To add to the injury already done us," said Mr. O hUadhaigh, "the Dublin Operatic Society published an announcement in the Irish Times and Irish Independent that the concert would not take place."

Meanwhile, however, the committee had made strenuous efforts and had been able to arrange a substitute programme.

The concert which followed was quite on a good plane, including operatic arias by Cecily Kenny, Leo Maguire and S. O Siothchain—all three of whom sang in the Dublin Operatic Society festival of opera a fortnight ago—Rita Lynch, and a choir under the direction of Mr. F. O'Kelly. There was some good piano playing by Albert Healy, and Marie Lillis Condron contributed some delightfully played violin pieces.

Paddy Henry was an amusing compère.

Students' Ceilidhe in Historic Hall

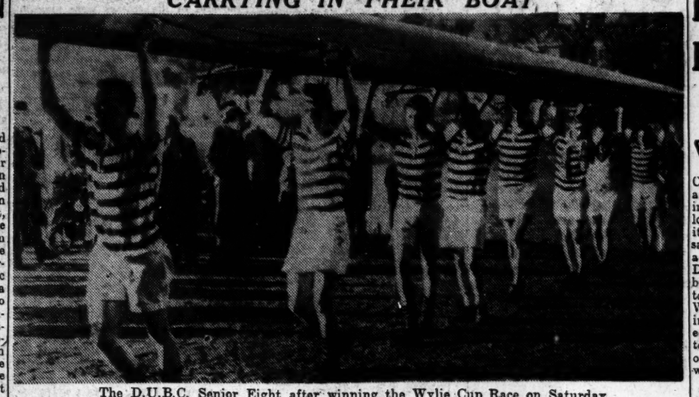

St. Patrick's Hall, Dublin Castle, scene of the inauguration of Dr. Douglas Hyde as President in 1938, of many important Viceregal receptions since it was designed by Lord Chesterfield two hundred years ago, and in latter years reserved almost exclusively for important State receptions, has been lent to the students of University College for a ceilidhe on St. Patrick's night.

The use of the hall for such a purpose is almost unprecedented, and it has been secured by the students through the intervention of An Taoiseach, who is also Chancellor of the National University. The permission was granted on Saturday, and over the week-end announcements were prepared by the Ceilidhe Committee to the effect that dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 3 a.m.

Invitations are being sent out to the staff of University College, Dublin, to the Lord Mayor of Dublin, to members of the Cabinet and of the Dail. It is thought likely that the Taoiseach, who recently attended the Trinity College ceilidhe, will also attend this one.

Saturday's development was the culmination of two weeks of controversy, which began when the Students' Representative Council of U.C.D., which is the authority that decides what student dances will be held, decided to hold, at the Students' Club, 65 St. Stephen's Green, a dance instead of a ceilidhe this St. Patrick's Day, because of the lack of support given to ceilidhes in other years. Following this decision, a graduates' committee, headed by Dr. T. Walshe, Mr. D. Connolly and Mr. Rory de Valera, took the matter up and permission was sought from the S.R.C. to have a ceilidhe in the Council Chamber at Earlsfort terrace, but this was also refused.

Union Between French Groups Brought Closer

GIRAUD GIVES ELECTION PLEDGE

UNION between French groups fighting against the Axis was brought nearer over the week-end by proposals in an Algiers speech by General Giraud and a memorandum by the French National Committee in London.

General Giraud, Military and Civil C.-in-C. of French North Africa—who gave an assurance to the people of France "that their sacred right to choose their provisional Government themselves will be fully safeguarded."—said he was ready to co-operate with those joining in his pledges who were taking part in the struggle.

The French National Committee has sent a "plan for complete French unity" to General Giraud.

Most Important Move Since Casablanca

General Giraud said:—"If France suffered bodily defeat her soul has never been defeated. Since June, 1940, she has been gagged."

A U.S. commentator, broadcasting from Algiers last night, said Giraud's statement was "the most important declaration of policy made in North Africa since the Casablanca conference." He did not even mention de Gaulle by name, but he did say: "There can only be one French army facing Germany, whether it comes from Algeria or from Libya."

Recalling that he had lived eight months in the unoccupied zone "under constant watch," Giraud said:

"I have seen the heroism of hostages who were proud to die to keep alive the spirit of resistance. I have also seen the stoicism of the workers under the bombing of their factories by Allied planes.

"France stood out against the effrontery of servitude. Her people have not accepted the armistice.

"It is an amazing spectacle to see France, at the very moment when our enemies seek to partition and reduce her being re-born everywhere at the same time, on the very soil of their desecrated motherland as well as outside.

"France had never known the catastrophe of loss of faith in herself. Each time she had been invaded she had regained her unity.

"The French Army of victory, with its Allies, will join the people of France in the liberation of the homeland.

"Many still wait for arms. These arms are coming. Deliveries have already begun.

"All of France will share with her Allies the victory and the cause for which she has suffered so greatly. The people of France will then become masters of their destinies, and constitute their provisional Government according to the laws of the Republic.

"I give the most solemn assurance to the people of France that their sacred right to choose their provisional Government themselves will be fully safeguarded. I assure them that the conditions permitting them to make this choice, in lawful order and with their freedoms restored, will be guaranteed. This situation will be created as soon as France has been liberated.

"I am the servant of the French people. I am not their leader. To-morrow we shall be servants of the provisional Government which they will have freely chosen, and we undertake to deliver to it our powers."

Legislation subsequent to June 22, 1940, had no legal validity. It could only be considered as null and void, drawn up against their interests. Measures had already been taken to re-establish French tradition.

"It is impossible to eliminate laws and decrees by a stroke of the pen before organising their adaptation to new conditions. To do otherwise would be to run counter to the end we are striving to attain.

"Measures are being taken. An ordinance is being promulgated abrogating the laws of racial discrimination and all the decrees relating to them. All racial distinction between native Moslem and Jewish inhabitants is also abrogated.

"I am sure that an essential contribution will come from Frenchmen free and united. This union must be whole-hearted and effective. It will include not only the Frenchmen in France now under the yoke of the enemy, but also the Frenchmen, who, like outselves, are outside of France. This union is essential. It is a question of life or death for our country.

"Union in the struggle alone can insure union in the reconstruction of the homeland after victory.

"For my part, I am ready to co-operate with all those who, accepting the fundamental and traditional principles of which I have spoken, and joining in the solemn pledge which I am giving to the French people, are taking part in the struggle against the enemy."

De Gaulle Proposals Sent To North Africa

Full text of a plan for complete French unity, which has been despatched by the French National Committee to General Giraud, French C.-in-C. in North Africa, has been disclosed in London on Saturday.

The proposals are included in a memorandum sent to the General towards the end of last month.

Pointing out that the French war effort is at present "shattered," the memorandum urges fusion between the French in London, North and West Africa, and other points of the Empire, in military, diplomatic and domestic spheres.

To accomplish this it is suggested that a provisional central power, embracing all shades of French anti-Axis opinion, should be established, with a complementary representative Council of Resistance, "to give expression to the opinion of Frenchmen."

The National Committee lays down that collaborationist elements must be expunged from French administration, and urges denunciation of the armistice and immediate liberation of all citizens "detained in violation" of the traditional liberties of France.

"Republican legality must be re-established. It must be made clear in particular that no agreement with a foreign Power could have consequences outlasting the duration of the war unless specially ratified by an assembly elected by universal suffrage."

Dangers for Irish Industry

The potential dangers of the post-war period for Irish industry, and the policy of allowing foreigners to take control of many industries, will be the principal matters for discussion by the N.A.I.D.A. at its annual meeting to-day.

A proposal to change the name of the Association to the National Industries Development Association will be countered as a destructive proposition in view of the useful work it is doing for agriculture.

Direct Hits On Japanese Ships

Reuter's Special Correspondent at advanced Allied Base, New Guinea, in a message yesterday said: Japan, undeterred by the loss of the great twenty-two-ship armada in the Bismarck Sea ten days ago, is trying to slip supplies and reinforcements across the narrow seas in small convoys. One of these convoys—five merchantmen and three destroyers, protected by Zero fighters—was spotted lingering near the harbour on Friday afternoon, waiting for nightfall to creep into the port of Wewak, on the north-east coast of New Guinea. Flying Fortresses attacked, and direct hits are reported on an 8,000-ton transport and a 4,000-ton freighter.

"Damage may, however, prove greater," General MacArthur's spokesman said.

Multi Millionaire Dead

Mr. John Pierpont Morgan, an outstanding personality of the financial world, a multi-millionaire, and a power behind gigantic financial operations during the last war and the present world conflict, died at Florida on Saturday, aged 75.

He Wore Pyjamas in Grafton Street

Passers-by in Dublin's fashionable Grafton street on last Saturday evening were astonished to see a young man walking carelessly along the sidewalk—clad only in a pair of brilliant blue-and-white striped pyjamas. He was 20-year-old Michael Fitzgerald, of Glencor, Torquay road, Foxrock, Co. Dublin, and he was doing it for a bet. "A friend bet me a fiver I wouldn't," he said yesterday. "So I put my pyjamas in an attaché case, and changed them in a pub on St. Stephen's Green."

During the walk down Grafton street Mr. Fitzgerald was followed by a rapidly growing crowd. He was accompanied—on the opposite side of the street—by the man who was in the act of losing £5.

To the policeman who chided him gently at the terminus of the walk—licensed premises in Suffolk street—Mr. Fitzgerald explained that "there was a fiver on it," and was let off. This was his second lucky week-end, as he had won £6 on a horse-race on the previous Saturday.

Cardinal Hinsley's Condition

It was stated yesterday afternoon that there had been no change in the condition of Cardinal Hinsley. On Saturday night it was stated that the Cardinal's condition was "not unsatisfactory."

THE WRITING ON THE WALL

"It is almost Christmas, 1917, and we can't get a bit of meat."

Workmen removing a partition on the Board of Works premises in Molesworth street found the sentence written in pencil on a piece of board. About the time the partition was erected the building was occupied by the British Ministry of Pensions. The writer of the message added:—"This partition was erected by two of the best men in Dublin."

The comment on conditions 26 years ago is interesting, in view of the shortages which another generation are suffering, too often with the impression that they are undergoing unprecedented hardships.

The Government Criticised

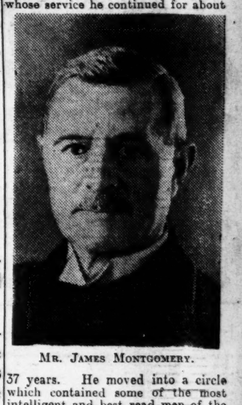

The record in office of the present Government was contemptible, said Mr. Thomas F. O'Higgins, barrister-at-law, in an election speech at a Fine Gael meeting in Lombard street, Dublin, yesterday. Fianna Fail, he said, had consistently failed to anticipate the ordinary problems which have faced the country during the last ten years.

S.S. Irish Fir

DEATH OF FIRST FILM CENSOR

WE regret to announce the death of Mr. James Montgomery, the former Film Censor, which took place yesterday afternoon at a private nursing home in Dublin. By his death Dublin loses one of its outstanding figures, its most brilliant wit and conversationalist, one of its kindest citizens, a man who loved Dublin, and whom Dublin loved in return. He was born in Lime street in 1870, and went to the Christian Brothers' School in Westland row. His formal schooling was a very small part of his education. When he left school he took up clerical work in the service of the Dublin Gas Company, in whose service he continued for about

Mr. James Montgomery.

37 years. He moved into a circle which contained some of the most intelligent and best read men of the Dublin of his day.

The most important man in this circle, so far as public affairs were concerned, was Arthur Griffith, and a friendship of the most intimate character developed between James Montgomery and Arthur Griffith.

The two men had a deep interest in literature. Their interest in politics was not quite of the same kind, for, although Mr. Montgomery was a firm Nationalist, he had not the same passionate interest in politics as Griffith.

Apart from Griffith, the other members of the circle, which included Oliver Gogarty, Seamus O'Sullivan, James Stephens and O'Leary Curtis, had all a great respect and affection for Mr. Montgomery.

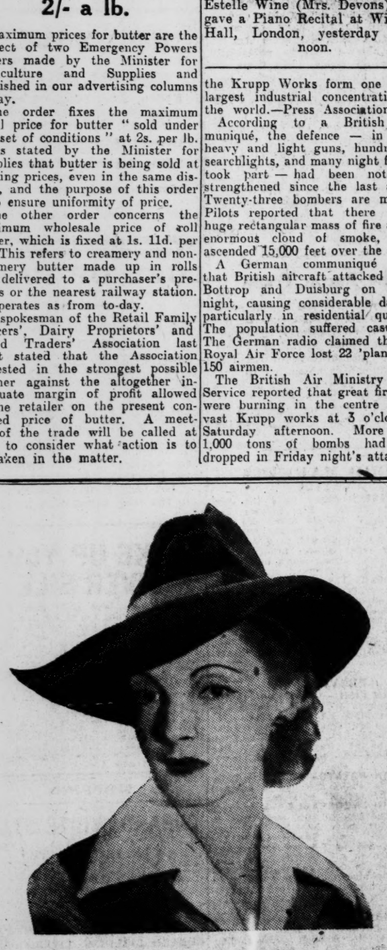

In 1923 Mr. Montgomery retired from the Gas Company's employment.

Six months later he was called by Kevin O'Higgins to a work of great national importance by becoming the first Film Censor—a post which he continued to hold for nearly 20 years. In this most difficult post he had to lay down certain standards. It is a tribute to the soundness of his judgment and to his tact and courtesy in dealing with people that in all his years of censorship his decisions were never the subject of serious controversy.

He summed up his duties with typical picturesqueness of speech by saying: "I act as a moral sieve, but, on the whole, I find the films more silly than sinful. One of the greatest dangers of our time is not the Anglicisation, but the Los Angelesation of Ireland." When he retired from his post in 1941 it was to the deep personal regret of all the members of the film trade. Fortunately he continued to be associated with the film censorship as adviser and assistant to his successor, Dr. Richard Hayes. Mr. Montgomery's first wife was Miss Kate Clancey, and they had one daughter, Eva, now Mrs. Jack O'Leary. His second wife was the daughter of Dr. Conroy, of Roscommon. They had three children, of whom the eldest, Niall, is an architect in the Board of Works. Another son, Seamus, died about two weeks ago.

For the last twelve months Mr. Montgomery's health had not been too robust, as he suffered both from heart and bronchial trouble.

The funeral takes place to-morrow from Booterstown Church, after Mass, which will be at 10.15.

Cork United Held to Draw

CORK .... 1 DRUMCONDRA 1

CORK UNITED dropped a point at the Mardyke yesterday to Drumcondra, who fully deserved their share of the honours. It was a game in which the defences on both sides mastered the attack, and right to the end it was anybody's game. True, Cork had the territorial advantage for three-quarters of the time, but their inside forwards struck an off day, and the lack of cohesion left Drumcondra's very solid defence with a task well within its powers.

Flynn made an excellent goalkeeper, and Clarke was in fine form, with O'Rourke lending plenty of support. McGlynn was the pick of the halves. The forwards were clever in passing movements, but not quite smart enough for Cork's defenders. McGrane and McNamara impressed very favourably. McAlinden, Hayes and Duffy, on the Cork side, co-operated perfectly in one of the best displays of the season, and at mid-field Cork were well served, for Curtin marked McNamara closely, and the wing halves were both good. O'Reilly and Madden, the wings, were best forwards.

Drums made a lightening start, but Cork's defence held out, and when the home team got going McCarthy sent a long pass between the backs, and O'Reilly followed up to score fifteen minutes from the start. Ten minutes later McNamara headed the equaliser from Dyer's centre.

Both sides missed good opportunities in the second period. Once McCarthy just failed for Cork, and late in the game O'Reilly crashed against the cross-bar with the net empty. At the other end, when Curtin miskicked and McAlinden was out of position, McGrane muffed a good chance.

MCDONALD IN FORM

DUNDALK...... 3 SHELBOURNE.. 2

Dundalk played Doran at outside right, and brought on McArdle as centre-forward against Shelbourne at Oriel Park yesterday, when a hard match was won by the home side by 3 goals to 2. A feature of the game was the splendid form shown by McDonald, the Dundalk left-winger, who not only got two fine goals, but was unlucky with two other great shots.

Shelbourne, whose attack was indifferent in the first half, drafted Bradshaw into the centre in the last half-hour, but he was well held by Leathem, and only rarely was he dangerous. Kennedy was the visitors' most dangerous forward; several of his crosses were magnificent.

Matier must improve on the form shown in this game for the Inter-League match. He might have saved the first Shelbourne goal, and he should not have been beaten by Gannon's free kick from 35 yards, which he misjudged and allowed into the net at the corner.

Dundalk started in great style, and a lapse by Kinsella enabled McDonald to beat Daly with a strong shot. After Matier had saved finely from Kennedy, Cassidy got through for the equaliser, but from a centre by Donnelly McDonald headed through Dundalk's second goal. Matier cleared a good shot by Bradshaw, and five minutes before the interval McArdle snapped up a pass from McFarlane to score Dundalk's third goal.

Soon after Bradshaw had changed place with Cassidy in the Shelbourne attack, Bradshaw was awarded a free kick against Leathem, and from this Gannon scored with a great drive from 35 yards. Shelbourne were lucky afterwards when a great drive by Grice from a free, just outside the penalty area, beat Daly but crashed against an upright. Daly brought off one of the best saves of the match near the end, when he stopped a strong shot by McArdle.

GATE MISS CHANCES

SHAMROCK R. 3 ST. JAMES'S G. 0

The match at Milltown yesterday was about the tamest played there this season. Rovers were without Harris and Grogan, whose places at left half and centre forward were taken by reserves, Moloney and Carroll; but they won by 3-0 (Coad and Delany in the first half and Carroll in the second). St. James's Gate forwards had many chances but found Palmer, in his best form in goal. Still, the visitors should have scored at least a couple, a "certainty" right under the bar immediately at the start of the second half being skied by Byrne, the right winger. There were several minor casualties on either side, and in the closing stages Delany (Rovers) retired.

EASY VICTORY

BRIDEVILLE ..... 4 BRAY 0

At Harold's Cross yesterday Brideville had an easy victory over Bray Unknowns. It was a dull and featureless game, and at no point was the home team extended. Their first goal came after five minutes, when Naughton netted, and after half-an-hour Collins, the Bray goalkeeper, put through his own goal in attempting to clear. Twelve minutes after the resumption Benny Gaughran, who was making his first appearance for Brideville, got the third, and the fourth was scored by Clarke.

M. O'FLANAGAN'S "HAT TRICK"

BOHEMIANS .. 4 LIMERICK 1

In the first half of the match at Dalymount Park on Saturday, the players were completely baffled by an unusually high-bouncing ball, but with a less livelier one on changing over with a blank scoring sheet each side settled down to a much steadier game. Then Bohemians emphasised their superiority, and inside half an hour Michael O'Flanagan, who led the amateurs' forwards, brought off the "hat trick." A couple of minutes after his third score Limerick's inside left Cronin shot through off a partial clearance by Landers, and Delaney, making his first appearance at inside right for Bohemians, finished the scoring with a grand header.

U.C.D. and Mary's Win

U.C.D. .... 14 BLACKROCK 3

THE two opening round matches in the Leinster Senior Cup provided but moderate fare for a very large attendance at Lansdowne road on Saturday. In the first game U.C.D. defeated Blackrock College by 1 goal and 3 tries to 1 try, thanks in the main to their lively, but light, pack of forwards, whose quick following up was a feature of the game. In the first half, during which three of the University's scores were got, the play was quite attractive, but afterwards it deteriorated considerably, principally because there was an abnormal number of stoppages for minor injuries.

Hingerty, playing at centre three-quarter for U.C.D., was a distinct success, his deadly tackling keeping the Blackrock backs in check time and again. McElhinney, Lyons and Thompson were other useful backs, and Nolan, Halpin and Fogarty were most noticeable of a good pack of forwards. D. O'Brien, at full-back for "Rock"; Chamberlain and Ferris (backs), and Keenan, Meagher, Ryan and Dunne (forwards) did well.

A cut-through by McElhinney opened the way for Lyons to score the first try; Nolan, getting the ball from a lucky bound, started a movement which ended in Hingerty crossing. When Blackrock passing broke down O'Flanagan added a third try, which McEntee converted.

Blackrock reduced arrears early in the second half, P. O'Brien and Ryan joining in a fast movement, which was rounded off by Keenan. U.C.D. replied with another try, Nolan following up a kick and grounding the ball. McElhinney had to retire with injuries towards the end of the match.

ST. MARY'S... 4 OLD WESLEY.. 3

In the second match St. Mary's College defeated Old Wesley by a dropped goal to a penalty goal, and thus won their first Cup tie since being promoted to senior ranks. Old Wesley had the bigger share of attack, the forwards heeling quickly and well, but the backs were in no way constructive, Carry being prone to attempt too much on his own. The tackling of the St. Mary's backs, too, was very sound, and Norton was in excellent form at full-back.

B. Lumley, the schoolboy centre three-quarter, made a promising debut in senior ranks, and Wolfe sent out a good service from the scrums, of which the other backs made poor use. Polden, Rooney, and Booth (forwards) showed up well, and W. F. Meehan, Quinlan and Meaney were prominent amongst the St. Mary's forwards, whose best work was in the loose.

After five minutes play Carry put Old Wesley ahead with a penalty goal. Wesley forwards dominated the game until nearly half-time. St. Mary's had more of the play, and Norton twice was little astray with penalty kicks at goal, while Scott missed one very easy one. Early in the second half Scott dropped a goal, to give St. Mary's a lead of one point. Carry missed an easy chance for a penalty goal nearing the end.

Big Increase in N.A.C.A. Receipts

Before an athletic revival movement could succeed provision would have to be made for training and for properly-equipped sports grounds, not alone in Dublin, but also in the towns and villages, said General E. O'Duffy, in the course of his presidential address at the annual Congress of the N.A.C.A.(I.), at Jury's Hotel, Dublin, yesterday. They were under a debt to the G.A.A. for the way in which that association had placed Croke Park and other grounds at their disposal, but, Croke Park, like other grounds in Dublin, lacked proper facilities, such as a cinder track.

He was of opinion that athletics should be a feature of school life and made a definite part of any educational programme.

Dealing with the present position, General O'Duffy said that the past year had been a very successful one. Receipts had increased from £237 1/7 to £745 5/3, which, with £417 11/6 as a result of his appeal for funds, had brought gross receipts up to £1,162 16/9. Leinster had 78 affiliated clubs, while there were increases in the numbers in the other three provinces.

The following fixtures were ratified:—

April 4th—Senior Cross-Country Championship, Limerick.

May 23rd—Special Provincial Competition, Belfast.

July 4th — National Championships (Part I.), Dundalk.

August 1st—National Championships (Part II.), Clonmel.

August 22nd — All-Round Championships (2 days), Dublin.

A motion that the position of Deputy President be abolished was carried, as was also the motion that the National Athletic Association be abolished and that all matters hitherto transacted by that body be vested in the General Council, N.A.C.A.(I.).

Officers elected:—President, General O'Duffy; vice-presidents, Messrs. T. Cullen and P. J. Scott; hon. secretary, Mr. J. J. Conaghan; hon. treasurer, Mr. P. Larkin.

At the annual Congress of the National Cycling Association, on Saturday night, the track championships for 1943 were allotted as follows:—2 miles, Bunclody; 3 miles, Bohermeen; 5 miles, Enniscorthy; 2,000 metres, Dundalk; 5,000 metres, Riverstown; 5 kilometres, Clonroche; 10 kilometres (McArdle Memorial), Dundalk. Road races—25 miles, Belfast; 50 miles, Dublin; 50 miles tandem, Dublin. Massed start—50 kilometres road championship, Waterford. Whit-Monday—100 kilometres, Navan; 50 kilometres (junior), an Ulster venue.

KILDARE HOUNDS

We had a series of fast gallops on Tuesday, 9th, the first from the Black Bog to Tinoran, where dogs coursed the fox and foiled scent. Finding in Grange Con, hounds lost in Ballynure, but finding again in Sprattstown they ran over McConnellan's Hill, then right-handed towards Ballicore, and marked to ground. Finally they ran fast in a ring from Ballyhook to the road, right-handed back and to ground.

On Saturday scent was poor in covert, but hounds ran well in the open. From Cappagh the fox broke down the hill to Ballynakell, where he turned left-handed as if for Ballycaghan but at the road he kept left, past the old Windmill, down towards the main road, short of which he again turned left up past Cappagh House, and got to ground beyond the Laurels. Another fox left the covert while hounds were marking, but he had a long start, and they were able to hunt his line only a few fields. Nothing else of note was done.

HUNTING APPOINTMENTS.

Limerick Harriers will meet on Wednesday at Kilpeacon Cross at 1 o'c.

CROSS-COUNTRY

E. Peard, the outstanding member of the Civil Service Harriers (A.A.U.), had an easy win in the four miles championship of the club in the Phoenix Park on Saturday. He beat J. Morris, last year's winner, by 68 secs. A handicap run in conjunction with the championship was won by J. Keogh, Peard being second.

Holders in Hockey Cup Final

Dublin University, the holders, will meet Lisnagarvey in the final of the Irish Senior Cup, in Dublin, on April 3rd. In the semi-finals on Saturday, at Londonbridge road, Dublin University beat Maryborough 3-1, and Lisnagarvey beat the Limerick team, Millbrook, 2-0. As was the case in last year's final, Maryborough put up a great fight against Trinity, and were on level terms at an early stage in the second half, but superior stickwork and greater speed all round brought the University through. Their half-back line, Crawford, Fleming and McCall, dominated the game, and the forwards had some clever movements, while the defence surmounted the dangerous period after Maryborough had the equalising goal. Maryborough, playing with great spirit and determination, the backs, N. Croke and Odlum, being excellent, while T. Croke marked J. V. Luce most effectively, but the forwards were seldom dangerous. Strong scored a clever goal in the first half, and Crowe got the equaliser. Lush and Strong got the other Trinity goals, which were deserved on the run of the play.

In the other semi-final, Lisnagarvey played some very clever combined hockey, especially in the second half, and even though the two goals were scored from penalty corner shots by Jack Bowden the Ulster men were unlucky not to have had two or three in the open play. Bowden and Raphael were a splendid left wing, the halves gave intelligent support, and the defence made no mistakes. Millbrook put up a stout defence, Graham, Donnelly and O'Dwyer proving most difficult to get past, but the forwards had few ideas beyond hitting ahead and following up, yet they caused Lisnagarvey defence some trouble in the second half. Results:

Irish Cup semi-finals—Dublin University 3, Maryborough 1; Lisnagarvey 2, Millbrook 0.

Senior League — Y.M.C.A. 4, Three Rock Rovers 0; Pembroke Wanderers 4, St. James's Gate 2; Railway Union 4, Corinthians 1.

U.C.D. UNBEATEN IN HURLING LEAGUE

BY PAT'O.

U.C.D. .... 3-6 ARMY 4-1

So well did U.C.D. play for forty minutes of their vital League game at Belfield that they led by 14 points to 4. Stokes, Feeney and Solon had scored 7 points before Flanagan goaled for the Army. In fast open play, the students stretched their lead, despite Army's smart clearances from Barry and McCarthy. At the three-quarter hour, Army staged a grand rally, and McSwiney whipped in two goals. Feeney pointed for U.C.D. but Baggot forged past for an Army goal, and U.C.D. backs were hard set to hold their goal clear at the end. U.C.D. are unbeaten at the head of the League, with two games to play.

ST. AGNES ... 2-6 VETS. 1-8

A disputed goal by St. Agnes in the second half determined their championship tie against Veterinary College. Rackard, Rice, Smith, Lynch and Dolan ran up a big lead for Vets. in the first half, and Kennedy and Maher scored for St. Agnes. The Crumlin men monopolised the scoring in the second half, when Kennedy and Rice got goals.

COLLEGES' FINAL

MUNSTER..... 9-8 LEINSTER...... 3-5

Munster had an easy victory over Leinster in the All-Ireland Colleges' hurling final at Cork yesterday. Munster had the remarkable lead of 8-2 to 0-1 at half-time. Stakelum (Thurles C.B.S.) was the star of the match, and scored four goals and a couple of points for Munster.

Other Results:—U.C.D. 2-5, St. Mary's 3-1; Faughs 8-5, Eoghan Ruadh (B) 3-2; Sean McDermott's 3-3, Geraldines 0-4; St. Margaret's 1-9 Westerns nil.

ROWING

Trinity retained the Wylie Cup for the fourth successive season when the finals were rowed at Island Bridge on Saturday. Results:—

Maiden Eights—U.C.D. beat D.U.B.C. by 1l.; 8 mins. 10 secs. Senior Eights—D.U.B.C. beat U.C.D. by 1½l.; 6 mins. 34 secs. Junior Eights—D.U.B.C. beat Queen's by 2l.; 7 mins. 9½ secs. Maiden Fours—U.C.D. beat D.U.B.C. by 3l.; 7 mins. 55 secs.

Functions of County Managers

The necessity for more harmonious working between public representatives and County Managers has been called for by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health, and, in view of this opinion, the Joint Committee of Portrane and Grangegorman Mental Hospitals may send him a deputation to discuss the matter with him, particularly with reference to divergence of opinion on the meaning of several sections of the County Management Act. When the Joint Committee meets on Thursday next the Deputy Chairman, Mr. P. T. Daly, will propose that a deputation from the meeting approach the Minister to secure a clarification of the Act.

Arrested for Having Gun

Patrick Gavin, no fixed address or business, was remanded in Dublin District Court on Saturday on a charge of having, at the Soldiers' Home, Parkgate street, Dublin, on Friday evening, an automatic pistol and six rounds of ammunition, with having the pistol with intent to endanger life, and with the illegal possession of a pair of men's brown shoes. In a statement to the Guards, the accused man said that the gun must have been put into his attaché case. He had no intention of endangering anybody.

"What's different about this coffee?"

The difference in Globo Coffee is that it isn't different! No matter where you buy it or when you make it the quality is always the same. Always delicious, because it's produced from choice beans, hand picked and roasted to precisely the right degree, then hand picked again so that only flawless beans are used. In ½ lb. and ¼ lb. packets from the best grocers.

More Bread Eaten Than in 1939

That there was a shortage of bakers in Dublin, due to the increased consumption of bread, was the disclosure made at Saturday's sitting of the Wages Advisory Tribunal in the offices of the Department of Industry and Commerce, Kildare street. The Chairman, Mr. M. J. Connolly, K.C., had under consideration an application for the maximum bonus of 8/- for workers in the bakery trade engaged in Dublin, Dun Laoghaire and Bray.

Mr. J. Bradbury, of the Bakers' Union, claimed that the bonus could be given without increasing the price of bread to the consumer. He based his statement on the fact that 100 per cent. flour extraction gave a higher yield per sack than when flour extraction was 70 per cent. The increased yield was approximately four 4lb. loaves per sack.

Mr. Denis Cullen, general secretary of the Bakers' Union, said that the bonus would have no effect on employment.

The further hearing was adjourned.

Selective Buying of Industrials

TRADING on the Dublin Stock Exchange during the past week was not so brisk, and scattered liquidation caused some irregularity in price movements. The recent advances in Industrial counters has made intending investors more selective in their purchases.

The Railway market is steadier, especially Great Northern issues. Lord Glenavy's remarks on the railway situation in general gave more hope to holders of Great Northern stocks. The Pref. staged a good recovery towards the week-end, and, at the present price of 40, seems worth retaining as a war-time holding.

Great Southern issues are being quietly supported at their greatly reduced levels, but buying is generally of a speculative nature. Until the company clarifies the position regarding the capital re-organisation, we can hardly hope for any recovery in prices or increase in public interest. Apart from the Deb. stock, which looks reasonably valued, the other issues hold little attraction, as far as one can judge.

Pye (Ireland) results for the past year are satisfactory, having in mind the present-day difficulties. The 5/- shares are again receiving a dividend of 7½ p.c., and, at the present price of 6/-, they give a return of £6 5/-. This company has done well since its formation, and is soundly managed. For those who are willing to lock away until after the war, they seem well worth attention.

There was rather heavy selling of Carroll Preference during the past few days, and the price came back to 26s. In view of the keen demand for good-class Preference shares, they look attractive, for they give a return of £4 12s. 3d. The company is in a sound financial position, and stocks in hand are believed to be sufficient for some years ahead.

Arklow Pottery Preference were raised to 24s. 6d. This 6½ per cent. share is being bought by people who are attracted by the arrears of dividend which it carries. The dividend is in arrears as from June, 1937. Despite the many difficulties brought about by the war, the company is said to be operating in a satisfactory manner.

Drapery dividends announced during the week were up to market expectations. There is steady buying of Todd Burns Ordinary shares, and they are now up to 15s. 6d. It is believed that the company continues to do well, and that last year's 6 per cent. dividend will be maintained. At 15s. 6d. they give a return of £7 17s. 6d. This high yield compensates for any risk taken, and they look an interesting speculation. The chief difficulty confronting all drapery concerns is the replenishing of stocks.

Dublin Gas Ordinary shares are hovering around 17s. 1½d., but the market is decidedly quieter. There was little of interest in the report other than the sharp advance in stocks on hands. Unless the company can show a much improved trading position the prospect of a dividend in the near future is not bright.

WALL STREET IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Saturday.—Stock Exchange opened strong and active. While there was a liberal sprinkling of two-year peaks, many of the leaders were unable to get anywhere. The Russian news was cloudy, although generally viewed as "bullish." Elsewhere, after a good start, trends wavered, but large blocks of low and medium-priced issues raised the volume, making it one of the largest for a Saturday session since late in 1941. The market closed irregular. The turnover of 830,000 shares comprised 812 issues, of which 297 advanced, 250 declined and 265 remained unchanged.

COMPANY NEWS

Bradford Dyers—2½ years' arrears of dividend on the 5 p.c. Cum. Pref. Stock of the Bradford Dyers' Association, Ltd., was announced over the week-end. This payment had the effect of bringing payments on this class up to date, covering, as it does, the period to December 31, 1942. Profits amounted to £242,274, compared with £240,024.

Gamage.—Net profit £98,318 (compared with £97,066). The Ordinary dividend is repeated at 7½ per cent.

Hadfields. — Net profit £202,264 (against £198,904). Final dividend of 15 per cent. on the Ordinary, making 22½ per cent. (same).

Demand for Shares with Post-war Prospects

LONDON stockbrokers received numerous inquiries from clients for securities having post-war prospects. The investor is generally prepared to forego dividend returns of any size on the securities if chapter and verse can be produced to indicate that the securities recommended have post-war possibilities.

In this can be found an under-feeling of anxiety concerning currency inflation following the war. Those who can forego interest return on their securities in exchange for capital appreciation at a future date are prepared to take the risk, as appreciation goes untaxed.

It is stated that some holders of Indian Railway Debenture stocks, whose securities came up for repayment yesterday, were prepared to purchase Industrial Equities of the post-war variety. The strength of Courtaulds Ord. and, to some extent, Woolworths Ord. in markets at the moment, reflected the type of investment in progress.

Net profits of £222,553 (against £197,769) were earned by International Combustion, Ltd., for the year to September 30 last, before providing for taxation. Final dividend on the Ord. capital is 15 per cent. plus a cash bonus of 10 per cent., making 30 per cent. for the year. Similar disbursements were made the previous two years, but for two years before the war 32½ per cent. was paid.

The £1 Ord. shares command the price of 125/- each, but are always regarded as worth a place among any list of investments.

Fleming, Reid and Company, Ltd., is a title which covers the activities of the Scotch Wool and Hosiery Stores whose 400 branches are well known in many parts of Britain. Net profit last year, at £92,036, was £3,533 more than in 1941, and Ord. dividend has been repeated at 10 per cent., plus a 2½ per cent. cash bonus to make 12½ per cent. in all. Before the war up to 15 per cent. was paid. The concern now holds Government securities £911,927, but its stock-in-trade has been reduced to £251,073. The current year will be a most difficult one, but the company has strong resources to re-build the business. The shares have a market in Glasgow.

Tarmac, Ltd., may be a small undertaking when measured against some of the big concerns of this country. It is, however, an important business, and one which is enjoying a measure of prosperity under war-trading conditions.

The company had profits for 1942 of £274,115, from which £168,750 is required for taxation. In the previous year the profit was £298,168, when taxation took £170,000. It may be said, therefore, that the position has been well maintained. Ord. dividend is 7½ per cent., and, in addition, a cash bonus of 2½ per cent. Similar disbursements were made the previous year.

The company has a long-term agreement with Stewarts and Lloyds, under which a large "tarmac" works has been constructed. The company should continue prosperous after the war.

The £1 Ord. stand at 42/6, which includes the dividend and bonus just announced.

Despite war-time difficulties, the Pearl Assurance Company made further progress in the calendar year 1942. Total premium income rose from £16,982,580 to £18,005,363, and total revenue from £20,585,003 to £21,736,705; while the year closed with total funds increased by £6,031,350 to £123,280,190.

Investment conditions continue difficult, practically the only medium open to the great insurance institutions being Government issues, on which the rate of interest is low. It was for this reason that the gross rate of interest on the company's funds fell during the year by about 2/-. On the other hand, the capital position has further improved. In his statement to shareholders, Sir George Tilley stresses that the industrial assurance offices sympathise with the main object of the Beveridge Report—namely, freedom from want. At the present price of around 13¼, the company's £1 Ord. (fully-paid) shares yield 5.7 per cent. gross.

Bishop on Films for Children

Distress that in some towns children flock to the cinema on a Sunday afternoon, instead of taking recreation more in harmony with the purpose of the Lord's Day, is expressed by the Coadjutor Bishop of Meath, Titular Bishop of Binda (Most Rev. Dr. John D'Alton), in his Lenten Pastoral on "The Christian Family." Until programmes suitable for children are organised, he earnestly urges parents to guard them "from the dangers that will inevitably attend their indiscriminate frequenting of the films."

The Coadjutor Bishop adds that, if properly directed, the cinema might become a great force in children's instruction and education, or in providing them with healthy entertainment. We still, unfortunately, seemed far from the attainment of such an ideal.

"Its unswerving loyalty to the Mass down through the centuries is, perhaps the greatest glory of our race," states the Most Rev. Dr. J. Kinane, Titular Archbishop of Dercas and Coadjutor Archbishop of Cashel, in his Lenten Pastoral. Apart altogether from considerations drawn from the Lenten season, he adds, the present is a time for increased devotion to the Mass.

THE CHURCH'S SIGNPOST

In times of peace we were inclined to take for granted the Providence of God: our plans for living with the success that we ambitioned absorbed our daily thought and energy, and it required the touch of God's hand upon us in suffering to prove how deep-rooted was our self-sufficient attitude before Him. So states the Lenten Pastoral of the Archbishop of Dublin, the Most Rev. Dr. J. C. McQuaid. We could not claim ignorance of the duty, not merely to think according to the teaching of the Church, but also, and more especially, to live according to the dictates of the Faith, in our homes, avocations, and social life. The heart of man had every need of God's surrounding Grace that it might be pure, lowly, and reflective. How, asked Dr. McQuaid, shall we explain our forgetfulness of our true position as merest creatures and as sinners redeemed, now that our Divine Redeemer had lived with us on earth? The more we reflected upon the bounty of God to us the deeper we ought to sink in lowliness before Him.

North Beat South at Bridge

FROM OUR BRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

Northern Ireland beat Southern Ireland by 1,560 points in the Hundred Board Match that was played in Dublin during the week-end.

The opening boards were bid and played better by the Northern team, and after the first eighteen their lead was 1050 points. On board nineteen 510 points were won back by the Southern players, but thereafter the Northern team forged ahead, and at board 35 they were leading by 2660.

Board 39 heralded a dramatic change. In one room the Northern pair attempted to make Three No Trumps on the North-South cards and were defeated by two tricks; in the other room the Northern pair, holding the East-West cards, made some weak interference bids and were doubled in Two Hearts, losing 800 points—three down. This was a swing of 1,000 points, and it put the Southern players on their best fighting form.

Board 40 showed a gain of 550 points for the Southern team, and, playing very steadily for the next ten boards, the deficit was reduced to 410 points at the end of Saturday's play.

The third session was remarkable for the number of times the lead changed hands, the Southern team leading for the first time in the match after board 51. At board 72 Northern Ireland led by 810 points, due mainly to a swing of 730 points on board 70.

In the first session Northern Ireland went rapidly ahead until at Board eight-two they led by 2,450 points. Good play by Southern Ireland reduced this lead to 1,520 at Board ninety, but Northern Ireland eventually ran out leading by 1,560 points.

The teams were as follow:—Northern Ireland — Professor Alan McKinnon (captain), Mrs. Norah McKee, Professor B. L. Lloyd, Mr. E. Goldblatt, Mr. W. McCallum, and Mr. B. Vard. Southern Ireland—Miss McNulty, Mr. C. H. Day, Mr. E. O. Barry, Mr. P. Quinn, Mr. P. Powell, Dr. A. H. Davidson, Mrs. Ina Hickey, Dr. F. McMenamin and Mr. H. Williams (non-playing captain).

COMPANY MEETING.

BACON CO. OF IRELAND

TRADE MAY REVIVE IN 1944

THE directors of the Bacon Company of Ireland Limited submit their report and the report of the auditors, together with the accounts and balance sheet covering the business of the company for the year ended 28th February, 1943.

It will be seen that the net surplus of assets over liabilities is £24,800 12s. 1d., as compared with £23,614 11s. 1d. for 1941-42. If the recommendation as to dividend is adopted this balance will be reduced to £20,028 5s. 8d.

This year there is a trading profit which did not exist in previous years, due to the fact that the company is no longer simply a holding company, but is now actually an operating company.

The directors recommend the declaration of a dividend on the Ordinary Shares for the year ended 28th February, 1943, at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, less tax. It is not necessary to declare any dividend on the Preference Shares since it was provided and declared in advance for the 28th February, 1943.

SMALLER SUPPLIES

It is not thought desirable to recommend a higher dividend, because of the fact that over £20,000 of the liquid reserves of this company and its subsidiary companies have been absorbed in expenditure on buildings, machinery, equipment and stock for the purpose of setting up new industries.

The total supply of bacon pigs in 1942 was 358,000, as compared with 827,000 in 1941, and 1,100,000 in 1940.

This extraordinary decline in pigs is mainly due to lack of imported maize for feeding. We note with satisfaction that the Department of Agriculture is now advising producers to grow more barley, oats and potatoes for the feeding of pigs and other live stock, thus adapting our agricultural policy to the new conditions.

We trust that when war and emergency have passed this policy of a balanced agricultural economy will not be abandoned and that the country will never again be dependent on foreign countries for food which can, and should, be produced at home.

PROSPECTS

The prospects are that there will be still further reductions in supplies in 1943; for the eight weeks ending 27th February the total number of bacon pigs killed in Eire was 45,000, as compared with 98,000 in 1942 and 157,000 in 1941. If extra feedingstuffs are sown, as recommended by the Minister, it is possible that the bacon trade will revive to some degree in 1944, but in the meantime it is doubtful if all the existing factories can survive. In the areas of our factories at Limerick and Letterkenny it is difficult to conceive how sufficient pigs can be secured in the present year to keep them in operation.

Throughout the year our companies have pursued the policy outlined in our last report, and have sought (with some success) to develop new businesses. Our profits in the past year are due in part to those new industries, and in part to the high prices realised for the substantial stocks of bacon which we had on hand at the end of last year.

NEW ENTERPRISES

The new enterprises, which are still in their infancy, depend at present on emergency conditions, which prevent the import of the ordinary requirements of the country. Our endeavour during the coming year will be to make so much progress in developing them that we shall be able to compete successfully with foreign goods when these are imported again. We refer particularly to our attempt to develop the craft of fine cabinet-making side by side with factory-produced utility furniture. Though our shareholders cannot expect immediate returns from undertakings of this kind, we hope that in the long run we shall earn a fair profit, and at the same time render a service to the country by providing employment for very highly trained young men, who would otherwise have to seek their fortunes abroad.

The Bacon Trade

In our report of the annual meeting of the Bacon Company of Ireland, Ltd., on Saturday, it should have been stated: Mr. P. J. Purtill said that the turnover of the subsidiary industries amounted to over £130,000 in the year. The accounts submitted to the meeting showed that the net profit on trading of the subsidiary industries was £5,640 14s. 7d.

FOOD MARKETS

CATTLE.

DONCASTER.—Poor trade for dairy and store cattle. Best milkers £45, calving heifers £25 to £38. No Irish bullocks; English 18 months stores to £17 10/-, yearlings £12 to £14. Good trade for pigs; suckers to 40/-, small stores to 55/-, strong stores to 90/-, in-piggers £18.

CARLISLE.—The numbers forward at the Irish cattle market showed a slight increase on last week, 320 licensed and 60 free cattle being on offer. Trade was again quiet and prices were similar to last week. Feeding bullocks £29 to £33, wintering bullocks £22 to £29, feeding heifers £26 to £30, wintering heifers £25.

MANCHESTER MARKETS

Reports to hand from all departments of the provision trade in this centre indicate that the satisfactory trend of the market is maintained for most descriptions of meats, fats and dairy produce up to maximum allowances. In bacon, there has been a steady clearance of the weekly releases of Canadian and American Wiltshires, and a few cuts which formed the bulk of supplies, deliveries being maintained on full levels. Supplies of eggs continue to increase on a seasonal basis, and allocation and distribution have been speeded up accordingly. The fifth allocation consists of home produced Eire and Northern Irish.

The moderate supplies of fat cattle entered at Mode Wheel (the Government grading and collecting centre) were mainly fat cows, and the quality was up to the average. A small number of calves were also received. No sheep were available. Pitchings of fresh-killed meat were a little heavier at the week's opening. There was a fairly good release of pork.

Arrivals of salmon can hardly be described as plentiful, and available supplies have been quickly cleared at full rates of 4/9 per lb. Offerings of dead poultry are very light and move readily into consumption as available.

More Pay For Municipal Workers

Dublin Corporation labourers and other employés whose wages are based on the labourers' scale, will get an extra 7/- per week, retrospective to January 6; boys will receive a bonus of 2/6 weekly; whole-time women cleaners, charwomen, markets and baths' attendants will get 3/- per week, with a proportionate increase for part-time women cleaners; watchmen paid at a daily or nightly rate will get 1/- per day extra; hired carters will receive 3½d. per hour extra, following sanction by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health of emergency bonuses.

The new bonuses are confined to Dublin City municipal workers, and will not affect local government workers elsewhere. The increases do not apply to hired carters on relief work or rotational relief workers. About 3,000 employés are concerned.

At a meeting of Corporation relief workers held in the Mallin Hall, Fishamble street, yesterday, it was resolved that all relief workers, including carters, should immediately present their claim to the City Manager for a cost of living bonus equal to that announced for constant Corporation workers.

French Unity

One of the saddest aspects of France's tragedy since her military collapse in the summer of 1940 has been the lack of unity among the French people themselves. Frenchmen are so intensely individualistic that political unity always has been difficult to achieve. The only issue on which French men and women of all types have been unanimous is their passionate love of country, and one of the worst weaknesses of the Third Republic was the number of different parties, which resulted in an almost chronic condition of political confusion. Since the fall of France this tendency among Frenchmen to differ has persisted, not only in metropolitan France, where conditions, in the nature of things, are obscure, but also in the French colonies. Immediately after the military débacle General de Gaulle, who had been one of France's most promising staff officers, announced that he refused to recognise the terms of the armistice that had been accepted by the French Government, and placed himself at the head of a French "National Committee" with its headquarters in London. For more than two years General de Gaulle and his associates were recognised by the British as the legitimate spokesmen of the French people; but it was manifest from the outset that the general could not claim to speak for millions of French citizens in the occupied territories, and, when he went to Dakar in an effort to take possession of that port it became equally obvious that he could not claim to speak for the inhabitants of all the French colonies. The whole situation underwent a radical change when the British and Americans invaded Algeria and Morocco. The cleavage between the two main sections of the French people—those who gave unstinted allegiance to Marshal Pétain, and those who followed General de Gaulle—became even more acute; but, when General Giraud, who was something in the nature of a popular hero, replaced Admiral Darlan as military and civil Commander-in-Chief in French North Africa, it looked as if some form of political unity might be achieved. During the conference between President Roosevelt and Mr. Winston Churchill at Casablanca, General Giraud was photographed shaking hands warmly with General de Gaulle; but, although they both expressed the utmost desire to bring about unity, not only of purpose, but of method, something seemed to go awry, and the proposal to join forces came to nothing. Yesterday, statements in London and Algiers suggested that another effort is being made to achieve French unity, and that, this time, some measure of success may be expected. Speaking in Algiers, General Giraud declared that the spiritual union of all Frenchmen was essential. It was a question of life and death for the French nation, and he was ready to co-operate heartily with those who were trying to bring this unity about. He gave the French people his "solemn assurance" that their sacred right to choose their own provisional government would be fully safeguarded. "I am the servant," he declared, "and not the master, of the French people." General Giraud added that all legislative measures adopted in metropolitan France since June, 1940, must be regarded as invalid, and that, in particular, all laws involving racial discrimination would be abolished. In its general tendency General Giraud's statement seems to satisfy the requirements of General de Gaulle's manifesto, promulgated in London. The terms of this document were conveyed to General Giraud at the end of last month; and his speech in Algiers ought to pave the way for a real understanding between himself and the French spokesmen in London. General de Gaulle states that his London committee will seek "all possible means of unity," and it is evident that, apart from personal considerations, which always play an important part in French politics, there is no real reason why existing differences should continue. The fundamental difficulty in regard to French affairs at the moment, of course, is to discover what the people of occupied France really think. It is almost as easy for General Giraud in Algiers as it is for General de Gaulle in London to draw up statements of policy on behalf of those millions of French men and women who, being under enemy occupation, are unable to say anything at all. For this reason all statements of policy by French leaders outside France must be accepted with reserve by the rest of the world. Only the French people can decide their own future, and neither General Giraud nor General de Gaulle is in a position at present to ascertain their views.

The Cult of the Cuff

"Austerity" has not yet imposed itself so hardly upon the Irish male that he must dispense with the turn-up—what Americans call the cuff—to his trousers. "No turn-up," however, has become the rule in Great Britain; and, while the Englishman accepts this deprivation as one factor in the fortune of war, he reserves his right to ask the Government whether it is acting entirely for the good. One responsible English journal suggests that the absence of a turn-up in the trousers may waste, rather than save, cloth; and most of the best tailors seem to agree with it. The newspaper is arguing, perhaps, beside the point when it pleads that trousers with a turn-up "hang" better than those which are not so equipped: Mr. Churchill's Government is intent upon a serious business, and has no time to interest itself in the appearance of any man's legs. For that matter, the case is not proven. The tailor points out that evening trousers, always lacking a turn-up, hang to perfection; that the pin-striped trousers, which are an essential element of conventional morning attire in the City of London, at fashionable weddings, and in the paddock of all the major cross-Channel race meetings, are devoid of turn-up, but are beyond criticism, and that even the smartest officers of His Britannic Majesty's forces appear on parade, at mess, and in the street with single-ended small clothes. In fact, the conservative tailor dismisses the turn-up as a modern fad, which never ought to have established itself—and, so far as the very best people are concerned, never has established itself. For ourselves, we perceive strong arguments against the turn-up, chief among which is its tendency to gather a lining of that curious, fluffy substance which defies analysis and seems to grow out of nothing. How many men in these days can afford the services of a valet? How many men's wives are sufficiently devoted and conscientious to administer a weekly, or even a monthly, brushing to the turn-up of the trousers-leg? How many men will condescend to discharge the same duty for themselves? The turn-up, admittedly, has its uses. It can serve the purpose of an ash-tray when circumstances dictate the disposal of ash and no real ash-tray is available; it can be turned down to cope with the necessities of the growing boy in these hard times. Nevertheless, its fundamental purpose, we repeat, is not proven. Trousers are ugly things at the best of times; and who will dare to assert that they are less ugly, or less practical, with or without the extra four inches of folded material?

Country Cottages

The report of the decisions of the British Ministry of Works, in connection with the building of 3,000 houses for land workers, makes interesting and not uninstructive reading. The work upon the houses is to begin next month; and, consequently, the Ministry faces a large building project at a time of unparalleled scarcity of both materials and labour. The only note of "austerity" in the design, however, is the introduction of a flat, instead of a pitched, roof in one-third of the houses, with the object of saving timber. Certain basic requirements have been laid down, and several typical exterior designs have been approved. The actual planning, however, will be done by local architects, upon the general lines shown by the Ministry's exhibits. Local materials are to be used as far as possible; and the brickwork of the houses will vary in colour according to the surroundings. For example, in the Cotswolds, if stonemasons are not available for building with the local stone, the bricks will be grey. The report shows some consciousness of the fact that town-planning must be paralleled by country-planning. In Ireland, still primarily rural in organisation, the need for central control in building is obvious. It is clear, of course, that the thatched cottage, which has always been the outstanding feature of the Irish scene, must give way to a better-planned, more hygienic structure. Yet, if our national pride is not sufficient, the importance of our tourist traffic must show that we cannot allow the country to be spoiled. Replacement of the "cabin" with a gaunt, unimaginative plastered box will not improve our scenery; but, happily, health and beauty are not incompatible. We point to the example of the Ministry of Works. The rehousing of our rural population must be a matter of national strategy, under the appropriate Minister; but, if the details are left in the hands of approved local architects—architects who realise that a house cannot be designed in a vacuum, but only in relation to its surroundings—the beauty of the country will not be sacrificed to the undeniable claims of hygiene.

THE LATE JAMES MONTGOMERY

AN APPRECIATION

I have been asked to write a few words on the death of James Montgomery, former Film Censor. I have some slender fitness for the sad office; in my other worldly existence we were namesakes. There was a bond between us that the difference in religions did not chafe. For myself, I saw no reason to think that I should add to the honour of the Montgomery name by seeking to alter him in a single particular. From him I learned that out of Norman blood it was possible to make an Irishman.

How shall I describe the good man that is gone and that I do not think I ever met in the streets of Dublin without a mutual halt and a chat? I see him now, a slender, middle-sized man of a high colour, due, alas, not to robustness, but to ill-health, and, with shining, eager eyes. As he talked, past Dublin unrolled before you, peopled with writers and wits and characters, and you saw that you were speaking to one of the most excellent of that chosen band. I have heard him talk; I have listened to the wit that flowed from him, sunny and gladdening. He saw folly and stupidity—no one saw them clearer—but his gifts of kindly humour gilded and transformed them.

I knew him as a Censor, gentle, but high and unyielding of principle. He was no prig or prude, but could find so much laughter within the bounds of decency that he could see little reason why anyone should wish to transgress them. He was no bitter politician, but he was a fervent Irishman, capable of great loyalties, and despising the time-server.

I shall not labour eulogy or sorrow, but the population of Dublin has shrunk sadly for myself and many another now that James Montgomery is dead.

L. A. MONTGOMERY.

INSTALLATION OF NEW CANON

At the afternoon service in St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday the Rev. W. N. Harvey was installed by the Dean into the Prebendary Stall of Rathmichael, vacated by the elevation of Canon E. C. Hodges to the See of Limerick. Archdeacon Ridgeway was the preacher.

The new Canon was educated at Wesley College, and graduated in Dublin University, taking among other distinctions Archbishop King's Prize in Divinity, a Theological Exhibition, and the Elrington Prize. He took the degree of B.D. in 1918, and that of B.Litt. in 1942. In 1921 he was appointed Rector of Sandford Parish Church, after serving as Curate in St. John's, Monkstown, and Zion Church, Rathgar. In 1933 he was appointed Catechist in Alexandra School, and he holds a similar position in Sandford Park School. He always has taken a keen interest in the Boy Scout movement, being a member of the executive committee of the Dublin Association for some years, and fulfilling the duties of Group Scoutmaster in Sandford Church Group for the past ten years. He was Select Preacher before Dublin University during the Provostships of the late Archbishop Bernard, Dr. Mahaffy, Dr. Gwynn and Dr. W. E. Thrift.

T.C.D. NOTES

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

WITH the near approach of spring and the unusually fine weather, the external aspect of College has already considerably brightened. One of the first and most welcome signs of the times was the breaking out of thick borders of crocuses in College Park a few weeks ago. Even to the drear wasteland of Botany Bay an occasional crocus found its way, clinging tenaciously to life in such alien territory, and even in the Bay buds are now shooting forth on trees that, during the winter months, give the impression of being perpetually blasted. To-morrow Spring Commencements take place, Divinity Lectures, Senior Class, end, Engineering Lectures end, and there is the Supplemental Divinity Examination, Junior Class. On Wednesday the Supplemental Divinity Examination, Senior Class, will be held. On Monday next Hilary Term ends. The final edition of T.C.D. for this term appeared last Thursday. It was in abbreviated form owing to the recent large Valentine number, and to the fact that a bumper number is to be produced in Trinity Term to which it is anticipated that writers so well known as Lord Dunsany will contribute. An interesting feature of last week's issue was a Book Review of Dr. W. B. Stanford's latest work, "Aeschylus in His Style." The subjects for the Vice-Chancellor's Prize in English, to be awarded in January, 1944, have been announced. They are:—English Prose, Milton's influence and reputation; English Verse, Byron.

COLLEGE POSTERS

Recently many people have remarked that the posters put up at the Front Gate do not afford the colourful diversity that they did formerly, and comments on the fact have even appeared in print. Actually this decline is by no means due to any lack of artistic inspiration in College, but to a regulation which came into force recently, which forbids that more than one poster should be displayed at a time within the precincts of the Front Gate to advertise any event. The posters may, of course, be changed at will, but the effect of contrast is lost. For the recent Modern Languages dance literally dozens of colourful and ingenious drawings were prepared, the most striking of which took turn and turn about in the much-frequented front porch. Both in quality and quantity these productions were equal to anything brought out on such occasions for some time past. The authorities of the various societies and the artists themselves, are anxious that the visitor should not get a false impression, and put down this lack of variety to any want of energy or talent.

INTER-VARSITY DEBATE

Early this month the fourth Annual Inter-Varsity Debate was held by the Philosophical Society, Mr. E. Childers, T.D., proposed the motion "That this house approves of self-sufficiency," and Dr. S. Skeffington opposed it. Representatives of the Edinburgh Union Society, Queen's University Literary Society, U.C.D. Literary and Debating Society, the Technical Students' Literary and Debating Society, and the D.U. Philosophical Society took part in the meeting. The president was in the chair. As a result of the debate the motion was lost.

The D.U. Boat Club are to be congratulated on their victory at Islandbridge on Saturday, and especially so in view of the fact that they have now won the Wylie Cup for the fourth year in succession. The unusually mild weather made training keener and more profitable for the Trinity Crews this year, and some hard-fought races had been anticipated. Both the Dublin Universities had been in training for four weeks, and had charted plenty of mileage. Last term two crews were selected from all the Senior Oars in the Club and were victorious over Queen's and National. The present First Eight is the best from these two crews.

OBITUARY

MR. J. C. DOWLING

The death has occurred of Mr. J. C. Dowling, Preston street, Dublin, who was stationmaster at the Amiens Street Station of the Great Southern Railway. In the last thirty-eight years, Mr. Dowling had served the company at several stations in the country, and had been Assistant Stationmaster at Harcourt street, Dublin, for nearly twenty years. An enthusiastic dog-fancier, and member of the Council of the Irish Kennel Club, he had the experience about six weeks ago of being saved from gas poisoning while asleep by his terrier, Rollicking Rover.

EX-SERGEANT J. BOLAND

Another link with the Royal Irish Constabulary has been broken by the death, which occurred at his residence, 35 Richmond road, Drumcondra, of ex-Sergeant John Boland. He joined the R.I.C. over 50 years ago, and for over 20 years served in the Dépôt, Phœnix Park, on the bugle staff, of which he was in charge. He was known to every officer and man who entered the Dépôt during his time. While in the R.I.C. he served under three British Monarchs and had commemorative medals in this connection. His funeral took place on Saturday to Mount Jerome Cemetery, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. T. Byers, Ormond Quay and Scots Church. The large attendance of old comrades at the graveside testified to his popularity.

MR. G. C. CULLINAN, K.C.

Mr. George Critchley Cullinan, K.C., who died at his residence, Derrybawn, Glencormac, Bray, on Friday last, was the youngest son of the late Mr. John Cullinan, Crown Solicitor, Ennis. Called to the Bar in 1913, he practised on the Munster Circuit. He was admitted to the Inner Bar some years ago. His brother, Mr. F. F. Cullinan, is a solicitor in Ennis.

FEIS ATHA CLIATH CONCERT

An Taoiseach and Mrs. de Valera were present at the concert held under the auspices of Feis Atha Cliath, in the Mansion House, Dublin, last night, to commemorate the golden jubilee of the Gaelic League. The programme was excellent, with good singing, instrumental playing and Irish dancing. The orchestra of the Keating Branch, under Proinsias O Cealligh, opened the proceedings with Carl Hardebec's arrangement of "Seoithin Seo," and later there was good singing by the choir of the same branch. Cormac MacFhionnlaoigh played in that distinctive style of his a number of old Irish airs, arranged for fiddle by Sighle Ni Cathailriabhaigh. Particularly pleasing was the singing by Michael O'Higgins of two groups of Irish songs, including E. O Gallchobhair's setting of "Rosc Catha na Mumhain" and Carl Hardebec's setting of "Cath-Cheim an Fhiaidh." Others in the programme included Seán O Siothchain (songs), Peadar Brugha (uilleann pipes), Cait Ni Cheallachain and Nancie Lord (violin and piano), and a number of groups of dancers.

PIANO RECITAL

There was a large audience at the Wigmore Hall, London, yesterday afternoon when Estelle Wine (Mrs. Devons) gave a piano recital. Estelle Wine, who is a Dublin woman, played Bach numbers, including the Italian Concerto. Other works in the programme were a Beethoven Sonata and a number representative of modern composers.

CRUISKEEN LAWN

By Myles na gCopaleen

I WAS recently held up again at a Dublin street corner by a small crowd who were listening to a young man with a strong North of Ireland accent who was aloft on a little Irish scaffold.

"Glún na Buaidhe" he roared, "has its own ideas about the banks, has its own ideas about amusements, has its own ideas about dancing. There is one sort of dancing that Glún na Buaidhe will not permit and that is jazz dancing. Because jazz dancing is the product of the dirty nigger culture of America, the dirty low nigger culture of America. . ."

Substitute jew for nigger there and you have something beautiful and modern. But what pained me was the fact that nobody present laughed. There is something comic about revivalists who have no idea of what they are trying to revive. What a shock this young man would get if he could read what remains to us of the literature of our tough and bawdy ancestors!

Complete humorlessness is, of course, the characteristic of the evangelist. If you go ball-dancing every Saturday night, you will eventually find yourself (to your great surprise) in Hell. Heaven, on the other hand, can be attained by assiduous devotion to the jig. There is also a mystical relationship between the jig, the Irish language, abstinence from alcohol, morality and salvation. It is extremely difficult to save your soul if you happen to be an English person.

Also, Irish dancing, being based on truth, is immutable. Naturally, the peasant dances of to-day are precisely the same job that was sternly commended to our daddies half a century ago, notwithstanding the fact that most other things seem to have changed. Here is an amusing extract translated from the "Gaelic Journal" of exactly forty years ago:

"It is a good thing that the two authors (of "Rinnce Gaodhalach, A Handbook of Irish Dancing") should give the words of command in Irish as well as English. The Gaels can make use of their own tongue. What will the poor Shoneen do now? It won't be long until the polkas and the Lancers and the waltzes have to clear out! And a good riddance!"

So you see Satan invents different devices from age to age in his attempts to destroy our holy native dances and our souls. In your grandfather's grandfather's day it was the minuet.

In my own opinion (not in yours, of course) all persons occupying chairs in the National University should be required to prove their proficiency in Irish dancing. Oral Irish is not enough. It should be a strictly foot and mouth job. Lectures should start with a long preliminary squeal on the union pipes, a warning alike to students and professors to choose their partners. Then hammer and tongs through "Job of Journey-work," with the absurd red-faced pedagogues bobbing up and down in the midst of their juvenile charges. Then exit the piper and out with Hall and Knight. I want everybody's attention please. In those circumstances professors would probably have to retire at fifty or so. "He's at the height of his intellectual powers, but the poor fellow is no longer able for the jigs." Between the jigs and the reels we will yet make Ireland a nation.

For some reason chess has always been another obsession with our chauvinists. This is probably because of an old tale which traces a lot of bloodshed back to a chess game where a looker-on, aloft on the "roof" and peering down through the boughs, indicated the correct move to one of the parties by dropping a berry on a certain square (thus proving not only that he was a good shot, but that berries don't bounce). Anyhow, I notice in an old Oireachtas programme that a Chess Competition is scheduled, the game to be played "in the traditional manner." What on earth is the traditional manner of playing this cold inexorable game?

Chess is probably favoured because it gives a chance of salvation to cripples. It would be unfair to expect everybody to be able to dance "On The Way To Laragh Races."

FILM NOTES

BY OUR CINEMA CORRESPONDENT.

La Kermesse Heroique (Irish Film Society): When Jacques Feyder made this film, shown by the Society in the Classic Cinema on Saturday to its appreciative members for the second time since 1939, he created a sophisticated, historical comedy, full of lively wit and sparkling dialogue, which remains unsurpassed. Although at least half a dozen years have elapsed since its making, so brilliant is its photography and excellent its direction that it is still as up-to-date in technique as yesterday's releases from Hollywood. The plot is the charming story of how the women of Boom in 1616, under the heroic leadership of the Burgomaster's wife, a part magnificently played by Francoise Rosay, saved the little Flemish town from the "Spanish fury" when it was visited by Don Pedro de Gusman, Duke d'Alvarez y San Lucar, Ambassador of His Most Catholic Majesty, and his escorting soldiery. Jean Murat makes a suave and dignified Duke, Alerme is good as the cowardly Burgomaster, but second honours after Rosay must go to Louis Jouvet, whose portrayal of the Monk is a beautiful piece of satire, which shows what a really magnificent actor he is. It is a pity that Dublin cinema exhibitors, who have in the past given their audiences good Continental films, seemed to have missed out this, in my opinion, the best of them all.

Off The Beaten Track (Theatre Royal) may be so in title, but it is far from being so in plot. The guest artist in a summer playhouse is murdered on stage during a performance. Puzzle, find the murderer (with an extremely occasional laugh at the Ritz Brothers). And—of course—the usual spies lurking rather nebulously in the background, operating the inevitable short-wave transmitter and gunning for possession of the conventional secret formula. Personally I found it all rather tiresome.

Stand By All Networks (Carlton): "Do you really think it helps the nation's moral, handing it all this spy-scare stuff?" This question, posed by the Mata Hari of this particular picture, is one which the Hollywood film industry might quite pertinently put to itself just now. Preserved from a welter of second-rate war pictures, occasionally we are handed a neo-war picture which is equally banal. "Stand By All Networks" is a notable example.

Bluebeard's Eighth Wife (Capitol): A rather elderly Lubitsch success which stars Gary Cooper and Claudette Colbert; wears well and is worth its revival. If you have not seen it previously, it is as funny as this week offers.

LONDON LETTER

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON.

SUNDAY NIGHT.

MR. GERALD KELLY, R.A., has been elected Keeper of the Royal Academy by the General Assembly of Burlington House. He succeeds Sir Walter Russell, who is 75, and is retiring from the post under the age limit. In peace time the Keeper is also the head of the Royal Academy schools of painting, sculpture and architecture, but these are temporarily closed. Mr. Kelly is to remain Keeper for the duration of the war, as it would be difficult for such a busy portrait painter to give sufficient attention to the almost whole-time job of teaching.

Live-stock Rations

There will be no material change in ration scales for livestock during the summer months unless there is a marked deterioration in the supply position. The usual seasonal increase of fifty per cent. over winter rates will be made in basic poultry rations for the four months May to August, inclusive, to provide for the feeding of chicks reared for replacement during the spring on the special ration allowances granted for that purpose. Rations for dairy cows will be limited again to relatively high yielding herds—those averaging over 1½ or 2 gallons a cow a day, according to month—with some provision for discretionary issues which were made last summer.

Mr. Eden's Visit

Considerable interest is being taken in the inclusion of Mr. William Strang, of the Foreign Office, in Mr. Eden's suite at Washington. Mr. Strang has a profound knowledge and understanding of Russia and Central Europe, although the general public never heard of him until he was sent on a diplomatic mission to Russia by Mr. Chamberlain. The son of an Essex farmer, he won a scholarship at the age of twelve to a school at Grays, showing unusual aptitude for languages, and winning another scholarship to the University of London, where he specialised in modern languages. After serving in the forces in the last war as a junior officer, Mr. Strang sat for the Civil Service and was awarded first place in the Foreign Office list.

G.B.S. "Money-spinner"

Theatrical managements have now found that George Bernard Shaw and Mr. Noel Coward are the two biggest money makers. "The Doctor's Dilemma," in which Miss Vivian Leigh has been starring at the Haymarket, has taken £125,000 in the fifteen months of its provincial tour and in the West End, while Coward's "Blithe Spirit" is attracting crowded audiences and will run into its third year here in July. Mr. Shaw is to figure in a triple programme at the Arts Theatre this week with the "Don Juan in Hell" scene from "Man and Superman." One of the other items at the Arts will be J. M. Synge's "The Well of the Saints," in which the all Irish cast includes W. G. Fay, Tony Quinn and Maureen Moore.

Flower Men Hit

The ban on the transport of cut flowers by rail has created a very serious problem for the growers, and for the small growers in particular it has meant a great loss. In some districts it has been found possible to use lorries, which have brought loads of material into the district and would normally be returning to London empty. Cut flowers are at the moment making very high prices, and the tantalising position of the grower who has the bloom and cannot get it to the market can well be imagined. The pre-war acreage of bloom has been reduced by successive compulsory cuts to one quarter of the 1939 figure. The remaining acreage has to be replaced by vegetables.

Flax-growing

Under the campaign led by Earl de la Warr, Chairman of the Flax Development Board, flax is being grown in Kent, after a lapse of a hundred years, with most encouraging results. The average yield is 35 stone to the acre, ten stone an acre above that in other parts of the country. Although the crop is inclined to absorb the potash content of the soil, the County Agricultural Committee counteract this by the issue of the right feeding.

AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Cardinal Hinsley's Residence

Hare Street House, Buntingford, where Cardinal Hinsley lies seriously ill, is the Chequers of the Archbishops of Westminster.

It is a Tudor middle-class house, bequeathed to Cardinal Bourne and his successors by the late Monsignor R. H. Benson, the noted pulpit orator and novelist, who, having purchased it in ruinous condition in 1907, had it renovated and beautified. There he wrote several of his fine historical novels, notably "Oddsfish," a story of Charles II., in which he gives detailed description of each room, the house having been featured as residence of one of the characters.

Mgr. Benson was youngest son of Dr. Edward White Benson, Archbishop of Canterbury (who visited Dublin in 1896), and became a Catholic in 1903. It is pleasing to recall, in connection with the bequest to Cardinal Bourne, that, though the will of the novelist was so bad in law as to have defeated his purpose, the Benson family not only handed over the house and property without question, but handsomely added to the gift. They also discharged the death duties on the estate, which, of course, were less than if it had passed directly to outsiders, such as the Archbishops of Westminster.

Cardinal Bourne erected in the chapel of the house a tablet in commemoration of the gracious gesture. Incidentally, Hare street is not the name of an urban thoroughfare, but that of an old-world Herefordshire hamlet.

The "Jeep"

The American military "jeep," which some of my readers may have seen in their travels, is taking to the water.

According to the latest newscast from American radio stations, the Ford Company's automobile plant at River Range is now turning out amphibian jeeps for service on water as well as on the ground. They are coming off the assembly line at the rate of one jeep every few minutes. In their manufacture the same conveyor belts are used as for ground jeeps.

Of the ground jeeps it has been said that even in the jungle they are able to do everything except climb trees. After the land jeep and the land and water jeep, American engineers may turn out an air jeep. In fact, I believe that a recent make of aeroplane actually has been christened—for no reason that I can conceive—the "flying jeep."

The Symphony Concert

It is not often that I am able to attend the Radio Eireann symphony concerts, and when I managed about a fortnight ago to obtain a ticket for an unreserved seat—mark the word "seat"—for last Thursday's concert, I was highly delighted.

The ticket stated that the concert was due to start at 7.15 p.m., but on arrival I found that I had missed one whole item. The time had been changed to 7 p.m., and, although I believe that the change of time was announced on several occasions from Radio Eireann, it was not printed in the newspapers, and I was quite unprepared for it.

Having missed the delightful Mozart "Magic Flute" Overture, I made my way into the Round Room, resigning myself to the prospect of a back seat. Another disappointment awaited me. Although the number of tickets issued is strictly limited, there were between fifty and a hundred people standing about the door, leaning against the back wall, and sitting on the stairs.

Incidentally, among those whom I noticed sitting on the stairs was Dr. Arthur Duff, whose "Suite for Strings" formed one of the most important items on the programme.

Jam

The housewives of Ireland are very much upset, and naturally so, by the announcement that no sugar will be available for jam-making this year. It means that a considerable part of our crop of fruit—especially soft fruit—will be wasted, instead of being stored in a valuable form for the winter.

The general opinion is that the privilege of getting extra sugar for jam was too much abused last year, and that this has led to its withdrawal. There is no doubt, to my knowledge, that plenty of people who have never seen a fruit tree in their lives got an allowance for jam-making.

Of course, the fault here is principally that public spirit—and, indeed, simple honesty—was lacking; but the scheme must have been administered slackly if it could be so much abused. Now I see that suggestions are being made that the sweet supply should be cut down to allow of sugar being given out for jam.

QUIDNUNC.

NEWS IN BRIEF

1916-1921 Commemoration Dinner.—This year's commemoration dinner, confined to those who took part in the fighting during 1916-1921, will take place in the Gresham Hotel on May 4th.

Belfast Dockers Return to Work.—Between 150 and 200 dockers who went on strike in a Northern Ireland port on Friday last because one of their number had been detained for alleged larceny, resumed work on Saturday morning.

Gifts for an Earl.—Mr. Dermot Henry Doyne, of Ardeen, Shillelagh, Wicklow, Master of the Coollattin Foxhounds, who died in July last, bequeathed all his hounds and a heavy-weight horse to Earl Fitzwilliam, who himself died a few weeks ago. The late Earl hunted three packs of hounds, and his son, the present peer, is a keen racing supporter.

Potash for Flax Crop.—The Department of Agriculture announces that a limited supply of muriate of potash has been made available for the manuring of flax crops to be sown in 1943. Only flax-growers who undertake to use the fertiliser exclusively for the flax crop will be entitled to purchase supplies.

Presentation to Rector. — The Rev. Arthur Broughton-Mills, on leaving Lockeen and Ballingarry, was presented by the parishioners with a silver tea set and a salver. The Rev. A. B. Mills has moved into the rectory at Overlain and Borris-in-Ossory, where he took up duty last week-end.

Working-Class Government Wanted.—Mr. John Conroy, Dublin executive of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, speaking at Limerick yesterday, said that only a Government representative of the working classes would ever ensure a decent way of living for the common people.

"Private Hotel" Retained.—Owing to the overwhelming success of "Private Hotel" at the Peacock Theatre, and the huge demand for seats, it has been decided to continue this popular new comedy drama by Brendan Smith next week as from Wednesday night.

Priest Loses Appeal.—At Saturday's sittings of the High Court Judges in Tralee, Mr. Justice Overend heard an appeal by the Rev. D. Finnucane, P.P., Castlemaine, against a decree for £300 damages given by the Circuit Court Judge to Mrs. Kathleen Farrell, Tralee, for injuries sustained when knocked down by appellant's motor car at Rathass. The decision of the Circuit Judge was affirmed.

"RED ROSES FOR ME"

When the curtain goes up to-night on the world première production of Sean O'Casey's play, "Red Roses for Me," at the Olympia Theatre, there will be a sigh of relief from Ralph Cusack, who has constructed the sets for Shelah Richards and Michael Walsh. He will know that, for the present, no further demands will be made on his ingenuity.

The shortage of timber, canvas, and such materials meant that almost every piece of scenery in the play has had to be adapted from something else. The floor-piece, for instance, which shows a Dublin skyline, was made from the sentry-boxes used in the recent pantomime. In one scene, the exterior of a church is shown, with two large stained-glass windows, depicting saints. The windows are "glazed" with artificial silk, which was designed originally to be used in ladies' underwear.

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

The preacher at the 11 o'clock Service in Christ Church Cathedral yesterday was the Rev. Canon Denton Green. He spoke of the evils of betting and gambling, and said that to some extent they were due to a misdirected desire for adventure. Among the young especially the love of adventure was a powerful incentive. It should be guided by the Church into rightful channels.

The preacher at the 3.30 Service was the Rev. H. G. Forde, who began a series of addresses by various preachers on "The Church's message concerning a new order for the life of the community." He spoke of the Christian's duty to his body. The human body was sanctified by the Incarnation of our Blessed Lord. It is sacred trust given to man. He deplored the absence of physical culture from the curriculum of the primary schools in Eire, and also its neglect in many of the secondary schools. The Boys' Brigade and other voluntary organisations stressed the importance of training the body.

MEXICAN FABRIC ARRIVES

Interesting Mexican fabric has reached Dublin. It made the trip by 'plane from Mexico to Canada, and from Canada to England, also by 'plane. The freight has been very high. It works out, it is said, at £1 per pound weight, with insurance at 7 per cent. This will make it dear for the buyer when it comes upon the market, but it is so unique that every yard will probably be bought as a souvenir. The fabric is cotton, printed with the typical Mexican designs, which feature sombrero hats, burros (or donkeys), and various other devices of a novelty character.

"THE NEW PROFESSOR"

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES

SIR,—The Senate of the National University has shown that coercion is never successful in this country. May I point out, however, that the chosen candidate for the Chair of Education appears to believe in coercive methods? He is, I understand, a member of the Censorship Board. This Board has banned many works of great educational value by famous scientists and authors of international reputation. — Yours, etc.,
